Principal's Comment:

Writing the newsletter in my nightie and dressing gown, while at school, is a very strange feeling. Today is International Autism Awareness day and we are marking it by wearing our PJ's and Onesies.

Autism is a neurodevelopmental condition that affects approximately 80,000 New Zealanders. The traits associated with autism span a wide spectrum and lead to a different way of seeing the world and interacting with others.

At Te Poi School we are all unique and view the world in our own special ways. We celebrate diversity.

Thank you for supporting Autism awareness today. All money raised goes back into supporting NZ families living with Autism
